

Bynum Tapped for Alberts Education Award

*David
Bynum*

David Bynum of the State University of New York, Stony Brook will receive the fourth annual Bruce Alberts Award for Outstanding Contributions to Science Education. The Award will be presented by Alberts at the 41st ASCB Annual Meeting.

Announcing the Award, Selection and Education Committee Chair Frank Solomon said, "the Award Committee was impressed by the range and depth of Dr. Bynum's activities. We especially appreciated that his programs affect education at many levels, and that he has assessed their outcomes and shown that they work." Bruce Alberts, Robert DeHaan, Elaine Fuchs, Elizabeth Gavis, Elizabeth Marincola and Roger Sloboda also served on the Selection Committee. ■